are now placed in the position of having to make a decision whether to appeal Nixon's decision or to file motions in this court," Dukes said.

He also indicated there has been some discussion with prosecuting attorneys regarding plea-bargaining.

Dukes said a "vital" witness, John Chase of the federal Drug Enforcement Administration, is on administrative leave for two to three weeks because his wife underwent serious exploratory surgery Tuesday.

Chase was the DEA agent in charge of the operation following the drug raid
at the Guilbeau residence, Dukes said.

"He is the man who entered into negotiations with our clients concerning cooperation and immunity."

"He will testify as to the degree of cooperation and promises made."

"Chase's testimony would not go to guilt or innocence," Assistant District Attorney J.P. Compretta argued in opposing the continuance.

Compretta pointed out that two other defendants are involved in the trial, and there has been no motion for severance to try the defendants separately.

"There is a strong question in my mind as to Chase's testimony in the guilt phase of the trial as opposed to the penalty phase," Vlahos commented.

Vlahos indicated that if he did grant a continuance, he would schedule the matter for trial in a special session
before the regular October court term.

Peterson said he was involved in the raid but only as an assistant to the federal agents. He also stated that he overheard the conversation allegedly offering immunity but denied agreeing that the matter would not go to a state court.

Peterson said he understood the charges would have to be brought before a Hancock grand jury as well as a federal court.

Ladner testified that he understood the matter differently. "I was approached by (Drug Enforcement Agent) David Smith, who said he would make me a deal," Ladner testified.

"Smith asked me, 'Son, do you know how much trouble you're in, do you know how much trouble your mother is in,' and told me if I cooperated with DEA that the only charges that would be filed against me would be in federal court. He said they would be on the misdemeanor side and we would walk," he added in response to questions by his attorney, William Dukes.

Ladner said he and his mother
cooperated on the advice of Peterson, whom he has known about 15 years.

Ladner said their cooperation included allowing DEA and county authorities to use the Guilbeau home for three days; with Ladner also making telephone calls and meeting at the Guilbeau residence and a Slidell, La., motel with another individual allegedly involved in a marijuana-selling deal.

Three Cubans—Lazaro Raul Rojas-
Chao, arrested at the Guilbeau home;
Ivan Martinez, arrested at the motel in Slidell; and Albert Llanos-Soto, arrested in New Orleans—were contacted by DEA agents through Ladner, according to the testimony of DEA special agent J.W. Seward.

However, Seward said an alleged drug deal involving Ladner and the three Cubans was not completed after Ladner allegedly told Martinez there were federal agents in the Guilbeau residence.

Seward testified that he told Peterson, "as far as I'm concerned the (immunity) deal is off" after the failure to complete the drug deal.

It was after Seward made this statement that the state decided to prosecute.

Testimony also revealed that Caranna knew nothing about the investigation until it was over, which the judge said was a strong argument against binding Caranna's actions by the alleged immunity agreement.

Billiot execution delayed

The July 18 execution of James Billiot, convicted of using a sledgehammer to murder three members of his family on Thanksgiving Day 1981, has been delayed by the Mississippi
Supreme Court.

No written opinion accompanied the stay of execution, which was issued Wednesday after Billiot's attorneys,

Yvonne Chapman Sills and Nicholas
Haas of Bay St. Louis, requested another hearing.

Last month, the court voted unanimously to uphold a death sentence for Billiot, who was convicted of killing his stepfather Wallace Kroll, his mother Audrey Kroll and his half-sister Cheryl Ann Kroll at their residence in the Leetown Community.

Special jury pool chosen for Corkern murder trial

By NAN PATTON EHRBRIGHT

Court officials met Wednesday afternoon at the Hancock County Courthouse to select a pool of 100 prospective jurors
for the murder trial of Robert Corkern.

Corkern, 22, of Shoreline Park, is scheduled to go on trial Monday on capital murder charges in the Jan. 27
shooting deaths of Gerald Comiskey and Keith McMillian at Comiskey's Waveland home.

He will be tried separately from his co-defendant, Allen Nicolaou.

Nicolaou, 18, was arraigned Monday on two charges of capital murder in the Comiskey/McMillian deaths and two charges of kidnapping and one charge of armed robbery which allegedly were committed following the shootings.

Nicolaou pled not guilty to all the charges and James Tucker was appointed by Circuit Judge Kosta N.
Vlahos to assist Hancock County Public Defender William Frisbie in Nicolaou's defense.

Corkern is being defended by court-appointed attorneys Yvonne Chapman

Sills and Nicholas M. Haas.

In May Circuit Judge James Thomas granted a defense motion for a special venire jury for Corkern's trial.

But Thomas denied defense motions to prohibit any dispersal of the jury pool until the jury is selected; to grant additional peremptory challenges by the defense; to enjoin the prosecutor from using peremptory challenges to exclude persons opposed to the death penalty;

and to examine prospective jurors individually outside the presence of other prospective jurors.

Port Commission eyes paving test variances

By DENA BISNETTE

An inconsistency in the results of soil tests required during construction of an apron at Stennis International Airport monopolized the discussion at the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission meeting Monday afternoon.

Mike Smith of Advanced Development Inc., the engineer for the apron project, presented the problem to the commission while its members were discussing approval of a laboratory to conduct tests for a second project known as "Taxiway E."

The testing firm under contract for the apron project is Gulf Cities Labs, but Smith has used several others to double-check samples of base material to make sure they contained enough gravel of a size meeting Federal Aviation Administration standards.

He questioned the consistency of the test results obtained, saying the results from other labs used did not match
some of those from Gulf Cities Labs.
However, he also said the results from the other labs did not always match each other.

Gulf Cities Labs was represented at the meeting by Lenny Ladner, who has been doing the testing for the apron project, and his attorney, Albert Necaise.

Representatives from several other labs were also present to answer questions about the results of some of their tests on the apron site.

The discussion established that the inconsistent results may have been caused by the use of different methods to obtain and transport the samples that were tested.

Smith said the testing labs are usually responsible for collecting the samples, but said that he or a member of his crew had occasionally collected samples for the Taxiway E project.

However, he contended that the problem of inconsistent test results has not extended to that project, but only to the apron project.

To avoid any further problems with variations in methods of collecting samples, the commission decided that Smith or a member of his crew will supervise all sample collections in the future on both projects.

Ladner said he would try to take all the samples himself to assure consistency.

Commission Attorney Robert Genin
reported that he has contacted the FAA about the problem since the meeting.

"I think the FAA man has a pretty good feeling for our problem," he said.

The FAA is sending a letter recommending that Gulf Cities Labs continue doing the tests for both the apron and taxiway projects, and Genin noted that a verbal recommendation also has been obtained by telephone.

"We hope to finish these two jobs without further problems," he said.

In a related matter, the commission approved a mixture of soil-cement for the base material to be added in the apron to help bring it to FAA standards.
The apron is being constructed by Bond Paving.

In other business, the commission
selected its 1984-85 officers for Port Bienville Railroad, naming Jerry Seuzeneau as president, Huey Johnston as vice-president and Nancy Gex as secretary.

Most other matters were tabled due to the absence of Commission Executive Director James DeBlanc, who was ill and unable to attend Monday's meeting.

The next meeting will be later this month, but a specific date will not be set until DeBlanc is able to attend.

OLA counselor to attend meeting

Sally Harrison, counselor of Our Lady Academy in Bay St. Louis, will be one of 150 participants attending a High School Counselor Workshop sponsored by the University of South Alabama in Mobile and the Southeast Regional Office of the American College Testing Program.

The purpose of the July 30-31 workshop on the USA campus is to help high school counselors enhance their knowledge of the college admissions process.

According to Dr. J. David Stearns, director of Admissions and Records at USA, the counselors will be able to better advise and work with college-bound students in all phases of the admissions, testing and financial aid processes.

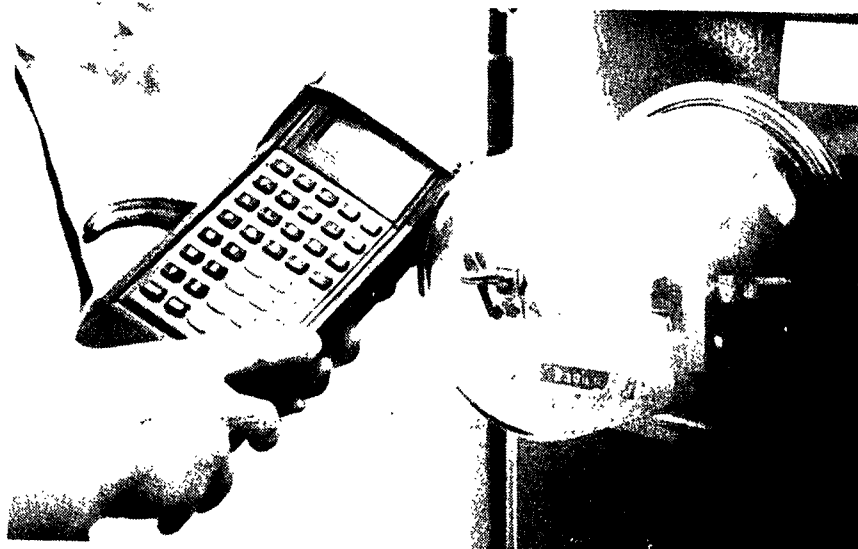

Stearns noted that national commissions studying education in the United States have recently emphasized closer ties between high schools and colleges and universities.

The workshop faculty will address such topics as financial aid and scholarship programs in the 1980's, computerized guidance, aid to the school counselor, and personal and academic counseling for the college-bound.

Mississippi Power Company computerizes meter reading

ELECTRONIC METER READING—Mississippi Power Company meter readers are replacing their pencils and papers with hand-held computers this month. The new electronic system makes meter reading easier and more accurate.

Mississippi Power Company's meter readers are replacing their pencils and paper with computers this month.

Bob Pierce, vice president of Customer Services for the Gulfport-based utility, said the switch will save Mississippi Power Company time and money and reduce errors.

"Meter readers will use hand-held computers which resemble oversized pocket calculators rather than the paper and pencil system which has been in use since 1933," Pierce said.

"This will make meter reading easier and more accurate, and will boost efficiency and productivity."

The new system will reduce the lapse between the time the meter is read and the issuance of the customer's bill because a meter reader will enter information into his hand-held computer at each meter along his route, then transmit it electronically to a master computer at the end of each day.

This master computer also programs the meter reader's computer with data to be used for the next day's route. By having information stored in the computer, the meter reader's paperwork is greatly reduced.

The computer will alert a meter reader to recheck readings on the spot if a particular reading is out of line with a customer's normal usage. This will make meter reading recording errors less likely and will help identify faulty meters, Pierce said.

The portable computers will also warn a meter reader of possible dangers on a route, such as a dog which may pose a threat to him when he enters a yard.

"The new computers will pay for themselves within a year when the system is in full swing. They will save the company about a half-million dollars through improved cash flow and increased productivity," Pierce said.

"This system is expected to operate smoothly," Pierce said.

"Our sister company, Georgia Power, has a successful electronic meter reading system and we have patterned ours after theirs."

Mississippi Power Company is a member of the Southern electric system, which includes Alabama

Power, Georgia Power and Gulf Power. Alabama Power and Gulf Power are also switching to electronic meter reading systems.

Mississippi Power Company serves more than 166,000 customers in 23 southeast Mississippi counties.

ETV Brief

ESP

In a rebroadcast of "The Case of ESP," "Nova" examines the claims for—and against—paranormal phenomena, including extrasensory perception, and looks at some surprising applications in the fields of archaeology, criminology and warfare at 8 p.m., Tuesday, July 17 on Mississippi Educational Television.

The documentary was first seen on ETV in January. It also can be seen at 1 p.m., Wednesday, July 18.

From Victorian parlor games to today's psychic best-sellers, the claims for ESP have been dismissed by skeptics as fraudulent nonsense. But in the last 10 years, some scientists have put paranormal phenomena to the laboratory test and are claiming astonishing results.

"Nova" reports on one physicist's experiment to have subjects control random flashing lights, apparently through mental concentration alone. The experiment has been duplicated successfully by 19 other scientists.

"The Case of ESP" also considers the military applications of remote viewing at the Stanford Research Institute, where one government-funded project tests the ability of psychics to describe army bases, islands and the interiors of buildings as no satellite can.

Storm stops sales at Jitney Jungle

THE SEA COAST ECHO—THURSDAY, JULY 12, 1984-3A

By DENA BISNETTE
The lightning and winds associated with a Saturday night thunderstorm caused problems for parts of the Hancock County area, according to reports from various sources.
What may possibly have been the most expensive problem occurred at the Jitney Jungle store in MarkTown Shopping Center when a computer system malfunctioned, according to store manager James Dykes.
Dykes said a fluctuation in the electrical supply to the store, including a couple of power surges, blew out the computer's price file.
"It takes a while to run the price file from our back-up system in Jackson, and that put us out of business until about 1:30 p.m. Sunday. We lost about $7,000 in sales and had to replace a few burnt circuit boards," he explained.

Dykes said a similar incident occurred a few weeks ago when the computer's time system blew out during a storm, but said sales were not affected on that occasion.
Electricity also became a problem for some residences with scattered outages reported in the Bay-Waveland area. Bob Ocche, manager of engineering and operations at Coast Electric, said most of the problems on his company's system in Hancock County resulted from lightning or from trees falling on wires.

Ocche reported that some individual outages lasted as long as two to three hours.
Ben Benvenuti of Mississippi Power Company's Bay St. Louis office reported that most outages on his company's system were concentrated in an area from Waveland Avenue down Highway 90 to Clermont Harbor. Most were caused by downed trees, burnt transformers or lightning.
Repair work on those outages began about 11:30 p.m. and were completed between 9 a.m. and 10 a.m., Benvenuti said. Some other scattered outages were reported and were repaired by about 7 p.m. Sunday.

City utility departments did not report any lightning-related problems with water and gas.
Don Roberts, district manager of South Central Bell, reported a downed telephone cable in Bay St. Louis Saturday night but said it caused no widespread service outages. He said the cable fell when the wind blew a tree into it.
He also said lightning and wind caused some scattered outages in the area but reported that all service was restored by noon Monday.

Bay school board adopts 84-85 $4 million budget

By NAN PATTON EHRBRIGHT
The Bay St. Louis Separate Municipal School District has adopted a $4 million budget for fiscal year 1984-85.
At a regular meeting of the board, Monday evening, trustees approved a budget which includes $3,859,000 in revenues and $4,164,575 in expenditures.
The revenues include some $1,104,000 in local funds, $2,200,000 in state funds, $526,000 in federal funds and $28,000 in non-revenue transactions or transfers.

Business Manager Garland Cuevas cited budget expenditures as follows:
—Instructional services (elementary, secondary and special education), $2,124,000;
—Support services (guidance, health and special education), $108,000;
—Instructional staff support (reading, librarians), $333,000;
—General administration (superintendent, school board), $136,000;
—Administration (principals), $277,000;
—Business services (business office, maintenance and operation, transportation), $1,067,000;
—Other support (student activities), $53,000;
—Community service (federal programs), $37,000;
—Transfers, $28,000.
Cuevas noted that the expenditures budget includes funds for minimum program, maintenance, federal programs and school food services.

The expenditures, he said, represent an increase of a little more than ten percent over last year.
The increases, he said, are in the academic program, utilities (primarily telephones), maintenance, general upkeep and capital outlays.
Superintendent J.D. McCullough, noting that millage will have to be adjusted in compliance with the law prohibiting the district from receiving more than a ten percent increase over last year, said the millage will be lowered from 27 to 20 mills.

"We are using the figures coming from the tax assessor's office," he said. "If there are any changes, of course we would have to revise the budget."
"We think we are on pretty good ground at this time," McCullough praised the Hancock County reappraisal effort.
"I feel Hancock County has done a good job in reappraisal. We're ahead of most counties and they say the assessment after reappraisal is going to be close to $60 million compared to $40 million for the past year."
Also Monday the school trustees:
—Accepted the resignation of James W. "Snuffy" Smith, Bay High School head football coach for the past five years;
—Approved the hiring of additional faculty for the 1984-85 school year at Bay Senior High: Cleveland Williams, head football coach; Mary Hillman, librarian; and Judy Moore, business education;
—Approved the hiring of additional faculty at Bay Junior High: Deborah Moran, English; and Susan Elchos, special education;
—Approved the hiring of additional faculty at North Bay: Frances Randie, music appreciation; Thelma Jarrett, special education; and Deborah Cox, computer assisted instruction;
—Approved the hiring of Karen Johnson as special education teacher at Waveland Elementary School;
—Opened and took under advisement pending analysis by the business manager bids for various school supplies for the 1984-85 school year; and
—Authorized McCullough to dispose of two classroom trailers at North Bay Elementary School at his discretion after McCullough advised no bids were received for the trailers and they must be moved to make room for new ones.
McCullough announced that he is calling a special meeting at 7 p.m. July 16 to discuss the hiring of additional faculty members and personnel; to accept bids for new trailers and for such other business as he may post prior to the meeting.

Quotables by Cuevas

It was good to see some sand has been placed by the Hancock County Board of Supervisors at the Farmers' Market.

This is a big help to local farmers as well as to customers.

It is amazing how many folks visit the market every Saturday and Wednesday mornings to purchase fresh homegrown produce.

The sudden thunderstorm early Sunday morning really shook up things in our area.

Damage included several commercial fishing crafts at Bayou Cadet which were reportedly banged up by a boat the wind loosened from its moorings.

Electricity was knocked out all along the Gulf Coast. Several residents and merchants in Hancock County still had no power at breakfast time.

We know Councilman Harry Farve had his auto squashed by a very large pecan tree and that Hancock Bank's large sign was shattered.

It is hard to believe, but I had one person tell me he slept right through the storm. All I can say is that he is a very, very sound sleeper.

The annual Blessing of the Fleet at Bayou Cadet, sponsored by the Gulf Fishermen's Association was slowed only a little Sunday by the earlier bad weather.

Many of the commercial and sports fishing boats were decorated for the blessing.

A good crowd of spectators was also drawn to the bayou.

The boiled shrimp were delicious, and we really enjoyed them.

Next year we hope the weather will cooperate a little better prior to the big event.

Monday was a big day at the Mississippi Army Ammunition Plant at NSTL.

A change-of-command ceremony was held with Lt. Col. Richard W. Bregard assuming the flag of leadership.

We realize a lot was accomplished under the leadership of Lt. Col. Walter L. Busbee at the Ammunition Plant, and we wish him and his family well at his new assignment.

We do want to welcome Col. and Mrs. Bregard to NSTL and also wish them well during their stay in our area.

It was also good to see the number of Hancock County residents at the change of command.

SUN TANS

Will getting a tan really damage my skin?

Summer's here and the great American race to get a tan is on. Even the problem of those "tanning lines" has been solved this season with the marvel of new "light transparent" tanning suits.

While a tan can represent a healthy, outdoorsy appearance, solar radiation has profound and progressive effects on human skin. So before the sun reaches its zenith, perhaps a few words of caution are in order.

The skin is the largest organ of our bodies and accounts for a full 15 percent of our body's weight. It's unique exposure to the environment makes the skin the most frequently damaged organ by environmental stresses.

The social significance of skin is considerable. Its coloring defects and blemishes are likely to be the basis of our first impression of someone's age. The advertising industry reminds us that what we most admire is youthful-looking skin, not a youthful stride.

As we age, the skin changes in predictable ways, including thinning and the loss of elastic fibers, leading to sagging, dryness, and the inevitable wrinkling. The first signs of aging that most of us will see will be in exposed areas of our skin.

Many factors are responsible for these changes and they seem to be unique for each individual. Genetic variation, chromosomal aberrations, autoimmunity, disease, and exposure to environmental stress all program our skin for the changes of natural aging. The most important factor, however, is the one brought about by the effect of the sun. It's solar exposure rather than time that wreaks the greatest havoc on skin, as the contrast between exposed and covered skin clearly shows.

When the rays of sunlight reach the skin, a number of chemical reactions begin. Radiant energy is absorbed by keratin, melanin, and amino acids and leads to irreversible complex changes. Melanin is an efficient absorber of solar energy and acts as a protectant. The more melanin, the greater the protection, which explains why the risk of damage to the skin is greatest in blonds or redheads with blue eyes or fair complexions.

This increase in melanin and darkening of the skin is what tanning is all about—the response of the body to protect against solar radiation. Continued exposure to solar radiation will result in a direct thermal burn to the skin, or sunburn—a condition which once experienced is unlikely to be forgotten.

The energy of solar rays leads to damage to the tiny elastic fibers in the skin, producing "solar elastosis" and wrinkling. Damage to the collagen fibers leads to thinning of the skin so that small vessels become visible or rupture, causing brownish purple spots. As the body responds by producing more of the protective melanin, the skin darkens or freckles.

The effects of sun-damage or cumulative and may begin at an early age. Sun-damage to the skin may be severe as early as age 20. Age and sun-related changes can promote the development of premalignant and malignant skin diseases. Lesions, named "actinic" to show that they are "sun-ray" caused, can develop squamous cell carcinoma, a cancer of the skin. Other skin cancers—basal cell carcinoma, lentigo maligna, and melanoma—can occur in sun-damaged skin.

Heart Association president recommends low salt diet

The Sea Coast Echo
P.O. Box 230
Bay St. Louis, Ms 39520

Dear Editor:

Last week a research report by three scientists in Oregon received considerable publicity in newspapers across our state. That study dealt with the possible relationship between calcium, potassium and other nutritional elements, and high blood pressure (hypertension). That report appears to call into question the role of salt in blood pressure regulation.

As president of the American Heart Association in Mississippi, I feel compelled to write you, asking that you share this letter with your readers, many of whom have high blood pressure and have been recommended to follow a low salt diet.

The American Heart Association in Mississippi is concerned that this research report must not interfere with any patient's treatment to control his or her high blood pressure. The medicine and diet prescriptions in use by physicians to control blood pressure for an individual patient are well established as effective in reaching this goal.

Patients under treatment for high blood pressure should faithfully continue treatment and be guided by their doctor's recommendations.

Based on the scientific evidence available, the American Heart Association's recommendation on dietary sodium remains unchanged. The evolving concepts on calcium and the regulation on blood pressure will be watched carefully and utilized appropriately.

High blood pressure is known as the "silent killer" in that it has no warning signs. Mississippians are strongly encouraged to have their blood pressure checked on a regular basis.

Individuals are encouraged to write the Heart Association, P.O. Box 16063, Jackson, Ms 39236, and ask for the free pamphlet "High Blood Pressure." Those who want to know more about the relationship between high blood pressure and salt are invited to request "Salt, Sodium, and Blood Pressure."

Thank you for sharing this with your readership.

Sincerely,

Joe M. Ross, MD, president

Waveland resident praises New Orleans World's Fair

Editor
The Sea Coast Echo

Gentlemen:

If you have not been to the World's Fair, you are really missing a lot. I know—I have been five times. I have a season pass, and there is still so much more to see and hear.

We spent almost one whole day in the international pavilion. I found it educational and beautiful. The photographs were great, especially Canada and Japan. The Korean live dancers put on a show you won't forget. Receive your free tickets for their show at 10:30 a.m. for their afternoon performances.

China has a huge pavilion and the furniture, vases and linens there are beautiful. It rained one afternoon but sheds protected us from country to country and each place was air-conditioned.

One night we saw the water show in the Aquade and then the fireworks on the river. These last two things were worth the price of admission.

The great air-conditioned convention hall has something going on all the time. Louisiana and Mississippi have their displays here. Don't miss either one. I was disappointed that the Mississippi slide projection did not show enough of our beach, which is the longest man-made beach in the world. The Mississippi pavilion has live shows going on most of the time and Walter Anderson's art on display, among other art works.

I can't relate all we saw and heard because this letter would be too long. I can only say that there is entertainment for all. Wheelchairs are welcomed, with ramps ready.

If you go in your car, take Canal Street to Magazine. Go up Magazine, turn to the river at St. Joseph for the large parking lots (cost $5).

Put on your most comfortable shoes, dress cool and go the fair. You will enjoy it. I did.

Mrs. William H. Bradford
Waveland

Heart Answers

WHAT IS A PACEMAKER?

The heart has a natural pacemaker that consists of a small mass of specialized cells producing electrical impulses that cause the heart to beat. An artificial pacemaker is an electrical device that can substitute for a defective natural pacemaker and control the heart's beat by a series of rhythmic electrical discharges. An artificial pacemaker is a small battery-powered unit usually implanted under the skin. It sends electrical impulses through tiny wires to the heart to control the heart's rate and rhythm of contraction. Contact your local American Heart Association for more information.

MISSISSIPPI CONSUMER REPORT

A Service of the Consumer Protection Division Of The Office Of
Edwin Lloyd Pittman, Attorney General

CHILDREN DROWNING IN SWIMMING POOLS

The Attorney General's Office Consumer Protection Division, in cooperation with U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission and National Spa and Pool Institute, today issued an alert to warn owners of residential swimming pools and spas (including hot tubs) of the large number of drownings of young children each year.

An estimated 290 children under five years of age drowned in residential swimming pools and an estimated 24 children under age five drowned in residential spas in 1981. Two out of every three of the victims were under three years of age.

Significantly, residential pool and spa drownings ranked as the fourth leading cause of accidental deaths among children under five years of age in 1981. Only motor vehicle fatalities, deaths involving home fires, and deaths associated with ingestions of food and objects were more frequent causes of death.

Near misses are also a safety problem. The Attorney General's Office estimates that in 1983, approximately 1,950 children under age five were treated in hospital emergency rooms as a result of "near drowning" accidents. About 75 percent of these cases were serious enough to require hospitalization and some "near drownings" resulted in severe drain damage.

The Attorney General's Office stresses the need for constant and close supervision of children around swimming pools and spas. Continual supervision is critical. Available data suggests that the vast majority of children who drown in pools do so in the backyards of their own homes.

In a study (of childhood drownings involving children 12 years of age and under) conducted a few years ago in Dade County, Fla., 97 percent of the pools involved in drowning incidents were either fenced or screen in, with the house itself often forming part of the barrier.

Only 14 percent of these pools were themselves totally enclosed by a protective fence. Sadly, 64 percent of the victims drowned in their own pools while 36 percent died in neighbors' or relatives' pools.

Where there were locks on pool fences or screen, 70 percent were either unlocked or malfunctioning. In 23 percent of the cases studied the children penetrated the fence.

The peak times for drownings was between the afternoon hours of 4 and 5 p.m.; the peak day was on the weekend.

Attorney General Pittman urges parents to keep toys and other objects that might attract children out of the pool and surrounding areas when the pool is not being used. In case of an emergency, Pittman encourages parents to learn how to perform artificial respiration and cardiopulmonary resuscitation, keep safety equipment readily available, and post emergency telephone numbers at the nearest telephone. Remember —The Life You Save May Be Your Own Child's!

Consumers are invited to report incidents of drownings or "near drownings" by calling U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission toll-free at 1-800-638-CPSC. A teletypewriter number for the hearing impaired is 800-683-8270.

Additional information may be obtained by calling the Attorney General's Office, Consumer Protection Division at 359-3095.

NEWS FROM THE GOVERNOR'S OFFICE

Governor Bill Allain attended the 50th anniversary meeting of the Southern Governors' Association July 8-11 in Williamsburg, Va.

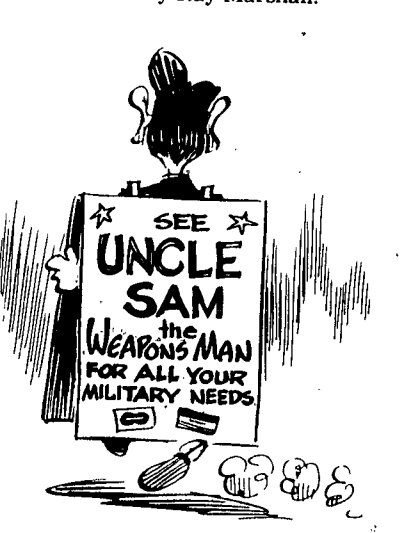

Governor Allain joined 17 other governors from the Southern states, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands for the four-day meeting.

"We focused on common problems of the Southern region, hopefully sharing our suggestions for solutions that will enhance the further development of our own states, and the entire region," Governor Allain said. "In talking to other governors, I have found that we share many common problems, especially in the areas of economic development and educational advancement. A new enthusiastic leadership among Southern states in bringing innovations and growth to our region, and meetings like the Southern Governors' Association provide us an opportunity to exchange ideas and adapt them to our states."

The conference included sessions on the past and future growth of the South, civil rights in the South, Southern economics and technology, agriculture and aquaculture and education.

Program participants include Atlanta Mayor Andrew Young, former U.S. HEW Secretaries Joseph A. Califano and David Mathews, noted economist Lester Thurow of Massachusetts Institute of Technology and former U.S. Labor Secretary Ray Marshall.

Ammunition Plant command change ceremony conducted

By ELLIS CUEVAS
Lt. Col. Richard W. Bregard replaced Lt. Col. Walter L. Busbee as commander of the Mississippi Army Ammunition Plant at National Space Technology Laboratories in Hancock County on Monday.

Bregard was the chief of the U.S. Army Training and Doctrine Command's Munitions Systems Management Office at the Redstone Arsenal in Huntsville, Ala. before assuming command of the ammunition plant here.

During the ceremonies Busbee said, "Today I relinquish command after three exciting and rewarding years at Mississippi Army Ammunition Plant. This change of command represents the transfer of authority and responsibility in an uninterrupted chain to my successor."

Brigadier General Guy P. Bowen, deputy commanding general for procurement and readiness, U.S. Army Ammunition, Munitions and Chemical Command, Rock Island, Ill., transferred the command from Busbee to Bregard.

Bregard stated, "I am very fortunate to assume command of this plant today. I am looking forward to joining that team which Col. Busbee has assembled. There are many challenges still."

Busbee acknowledged the support he had received and said, "I am proud of the accomplishments here you helped me make. I truly appreciate the spirit of teamwork that was developed here. The people of Mason Chamberlain, Inc. and government personnel from many agencies have worked hard to attain an initial production capability."

The army manufactures 155 mm Howitzer shells at the facility, under a contract with Mason Chamberlain, Inc. Busbee will attend the Army War College at Carlisle Barracks, Penn. After 10 months of courses he will assume command of the McAlister, Okla. Ammunition Plant.

Bregard, who visited the area in June and toured the plant, arrive in South Mississippi Friday.

Federal employee rally set for Friday in Biloxi

By ELLIS CUEVAS
The Gulf Coast Federal Employee Alliance's Annual Rally is scheduled for Friday, 7 p.m. at the Biloxi Community Center, according to Jerry Medford of Diamondhead.

Medford is a representative of the National Association of Retired Federal Employees.

"This rally is for both Federal service employees in addition to retirees," Medford stated.

U.S. Congressman Trent Lott is the scheduled keynote speaker in addition to Jim Pierce, president of the National Federation of Federal Employees.

The primary purpose of the rally is to keep the Federal employees and retirees, in addition to the general public aware of the plight facing all Americans today, Medford added.

"We realize the National debt is the primary concern of the nation as well as American families, and we need to show our efforts in doing our part in sharing the responsibilities," Medford commented.

The local representative said, "I hope all Federal employees and retirees will make an effort to attend this important rally."

MUW receives first grant in geriatric nurse training

The Division of Nursing at Mississippi University for Women has received a $114,980 nurse practitioner training grant from the Department of Health and Human Services to establish the state's first geriatric nurse clinician graduate program.

The funds, awarded by the nursing division of the federal agency, will add an additional clinical focus to the master's program which now offers the family nurse clinician tract, said Dr. Phyllis Werner, director of the graduate program in nursing.

Grant funding will run from Sept. 1, 1984 to Sept. 1, 1985, with an option to renew.

"We are very pleased to learn that the grant has been funded," said Dr. James T. Murrell, vice president for academic affairs.

"This will give us an opportunity to develop a program that we have been planning for a number of years."

The new program is the first of its type in Mississippi, Murrell said. "We think it has great potential to provide a valuable service to the people of Mississippi."

"With the increasing numbers of people in the higher age brackets, there is an increasing need for the development of expertise in dealing with the special problems of the elderly," Murrell said.

Werner pointed out that the percentage of aged persons will "almost double in the years ahead."

Dr. Annette Barrar, head of the Division of Nursing, said "The grant will enable us to employ additional faculty and a consultant to help with the development of the program."

"It will also enable us to purchase supplies and equipment, such as software focusing on the care of the aged."

The new program will help train nurses to give better and less fragmented care to the elderly, Barrar said.

Werner wrote the grant last spring, but the university was notified only this week that money would be awarded for the program. "We heard in January that the grant had been approved pending the availability of funds," she explained.

Planning for the new geriatric nurse clinician tract included a local survey among health care agencies and physicians.

"There is going to be a great demand for this type of practitioner," Werner said.

"We surveyed local people and found we had support from nursing homes and local physicians."

The elderly, she said have specific health problems and special needs. "We want to prepare nurses to meet these needs and to take care of their health problems."

Currently Werner said, there are very few nurses trained specifically in the care of the elderly, especially at the master's level.

"There is only one other program that I know of in the South and that's in Florida," Werner said.

MUW will begin admitting students into the program in August for the beginning of the 1984-85 school year.

Werner expects to draw students for the newly-created master's program from several surrounding areas.

"MUW is geared to working with commuters in its family nurse clinician program. This has been one of our strengths."

"We will continue our emphasis upon the individual student and in working with those students who need to commute," Werner stressed.

REAL VIEWS ON REAL ESTATE

LIMIT LIABILITY

Question: I own a large tract of land and believe that the land is right for some type of recreational use. One thing that bothers me, however, is the liability I may assume if someone is hurt. What would you suggest? K.C. Jackson

Answer: Dear K.C.:
If you allow your land to be used by others for recreational purposes, or any other purpose for that matter, you may be held liable if an accident occurs.

The degree of liability depends on whether the injured person was invited by you or was trespassing, or whether the person paid a fee to use the land.

This point can be explained in detail by an attorney who specializes in personal liability and you should certainly discuss the particulars with such a person prior to pursuing such a use.

There are several ways to limit your liability. One is to inspect the property frequently for damaging conditions.

Does the land have ditches or open areas that invite trouble? Is there a stream or pond on the property, and if so, is it easily accessible? Are abandoned buildings located on the property?

If possible, dangerous conditions such as these should be repaired or removed. If the conditions cannot be changed, such as the stream or pond, a warning such as a sign should be considered. Perhaps a fence should be installed.

Another way to limit your liability is to make sure you or someone of authority supervise the activities of visitors. Any time use is being made of the land, authorized personnel should be present.

Finally, you should purchase whatever type of insurance coverage is needed. While certain uses carry with them high premiums, the savings over not having proper insurance will more than be lost with one serious accident.

Of course, purchasing insurance does not eliminate the need for you, the landowner, to exercise normal care.

REAL ESTATE CAREERS

Question: I know that many people left the real estate industry as a profession during 1982 and 1983. What information do you have as to the future of job opportunities in real estate? R.B., Mount Olive

Answer: Dear R.B.:
As you noted in your question, many people in the real estate profession struggled through a difficult year in 1982 and the first part of 1983. Current surveys show, however, that the future employment outlook is much brighter.

According to a Huntress Real Estate Executive Search national survey, there is plenty of room for bright, skillful and ambitious people to become successful in today's changing real estate profession. Listed below are some of the commonly mentioned job opportunities:

Experienced building managers and property managers are needed due to the increasingly competitive nature of the commercial marketplace.

Leasing agents, directors and managers are replacing people who have not kept up with the times.

Construction managers with renovation expertise are in demand due to the emphasis on rehabilitation due to various tax incentives and the very high cost of new construction.

Acquisition executives with a substantial number of negotiations and closings to their credit are one of the highest paid real estate specialists.

Successful equity fund raisers who have proven their skill at raising money for private or public offerings are in great demand.

Project development executives with experience in mixed-use complexes are a tremendous asset to companies who have recently moved into the development business.

Vehicular homicide charges result from Pearlington crash

By NAN PATTON EHRBRIGHT

Charges of vehicular homicide have been filed against Gary L. Brock, 29, of Crystal Springs in the death of Mary Virginia Buice, 22, of Gulfport. Buice died as the result of a two-car accident on U.S. 90 near Pearlington at about 11:15 p.m. last Friday.

According to Hancock County Sheriff Ronald Peterson, after the accident Brock was originally charged with driving under the influence of alcohol.

But following an investigation by Curtis Newman of the Mississippi Highway Patrol and a conference with Hancock County Attorney John Genin, a warrant was issued Sunday for Brock's arrest on the new charge, Peterson said.

Peterson said the vehicular homicide charge is a new one which went into effect last July, and that Brock is only the second person charged in Hancock County under that new law.

The maximum sentence for vehicular homicide, Peterson said, is five years' imprisonment.

The sheriff reported that Brock, who has been working and living at the Port Bienville Industrial Park, was released Sunday under $20,000 bond.

USE PESTICIDES SAFELY

In agriculture, pest control is critical. Because pesticides are the major means of obtaining control, it is imperative they be used safely and properly.

Safe and proper use of pesticides if profitable if label directions are followed, and the best benefits of the pesticide will be obtained as well as conformance to many state and federal laws regulating their use.

Every person who uses pesticides (agricultural chemicals) should pay special attention to the following factors:

- Know the pesticide or chemical.
- Know the recommended use, rate and timing of applications of the chemical.
- Apply the correct amount of chemical recommended—no more, no less.

- Be familiar with the pesticides. In the case of herbicides, insecticides, fungicides, etc., find out what, if any, health or environmental hazards might be connected with their use and storage. Use them safely.
- Learn the limitations placed on the use of pesticides.
- Read the label on the container every time you use a pesticide.

In recommending or using pesticides, you are responsible for their safe and proper application.

There is no room for guesswork. You must know what you are doing at all times. Follow directions and read the label.

Many years of research and testing have established the correct amounts of pesticides which should be used to bring about the desired results at the least possible cost to the grower.

Sloppy application of chemicals may cost extra money, result in damage to plants or crops, fail to provide the control desired or contaminate the crop and render it unfit for sale.

Above all, read and heed the label. This includes the 3 "R's" of pesticide safety—apply the right amount, at the right time in the right way.

IRRIGATION AND HERBICIDES
Despite recent rains in some areas of the state, crops still lack adequate moisture for maximum yields.

Most of the soybean crop has been planted and the most critical time for adding water to full season soybeans is just around the corner.

During bloom and pod development stages soybeans require a lot of water to ensure growth.

Irrigating to increase stalk size has not been adequately studied but in most instances is not considered necessary. Exceptions might be for late plantings and no-till plantings.

There is a possibility that frequent watering during early vegetative growth may contribute to shallow rooting and lead to even more irrigation applications.

There are many herbicides being sprayed over the top of young soybeans. For the remainder of the season, it is not desirable to use mixtures which include 2, 4-DB over small beans which are already late and drought stressed.

Also remember that dinoseb, Dyanap and other similar materials are more damaging at high temperatures.

SAVE THE PANDA

In a rebroadcast of "Save the Panda," National Geographic focuses on the efforts to save this animal celebrity at 8 p.m., Wednesday, July 18 on Mississippi Educational Television. First seen on ETV last year, the program also can be seen at 1:30 p.m., Thursday, July 19, and 10:15 p.m., Saturday, July 21.

As famous as the panda is, scientists have been divided about whether it's in the bear family or a relative of the raccoon. Presently, it's classified as the sole living representative of the animal family that is neither bear nor raccoon.

To the Chinese, the giant panda is a priceless national treasure—as symbolic of their nation as the Great Wall. To the rest of the world, the giant panda remains a cuddly mystery.

"Save the Panda"

highlights the intense efforts to save the panda through an extended research project in the wild and breeding programs in zoos around the world. Viewers will follow two scientists into the remote Wolong Natural Reserve in China.

Here, as part of "Project Panda," a historic wildlife protection agreement between the World Wildlife Fund and the People's Republic of China, a National Geographic film crew was granted the privilege of filming the giant panda.

Graffiti is the Italian word for "scribbling."

with intent to sell various controlled substances on July 27 and Aug. 3, 1982, and was given the maximum sentence on each charge—a total of 350 years.

But Vlahos ordered that the sentences be served concurrently for a maximum for 30 years, and also ordered that the sentences be served concurrently with a 30-year sentence Bull faces in Pearl River County.

Danny C. Williams, 36, formerly of Bay St. Louis and now of Tallahassee, Fla., pled guilty to embezzling some $8,400 from his then-employer, Big B Discount Drugs of Waveland, between August and October of 1983.

Williams said he took the money to pay several large doctor bills and prosecuting attorney J.P. Compretta said he had found no prior record for Williams.

Vlahos said he would "defer" adjudication of guilt and sentenced Williams to ten years' imprisonment, suspended sentence and placed him on probation for five years.

He also ordered Williams to make restitution to Big B Discount Drugs and to pay court costs.

Mark K. Cuevas, 22, of DeLisle, was arraigned and pled not guilty to charges of burglaries of two Diamondhead homes on Jan. 18 and armed robbery of the Kiln Magic Mart Dec. 22.

Ricky Curet was arraigned and pled not guilty to armed robbery of the Kiln Magic Mart Dec. 22.

The two men are scheduled for trial Oct. 16 for armed robbery, and Cuevas is scheduled for trial Oct. 22 on the burglary charges.

Charles Boggs, 38, of Shoreline Park came before the court for revocation of probation and was ordered to remain on probation and to enter a drug/alcohol program under the supervision of the Mississippi Department of Corrections.

Judge Vlahos overruled a motion to quash and a demurrer filed by Yvonne Chapman Sills on behalf of David Scaffidi, charged with taking money under false pretense on Aug. 16, 1983.

Shuttle parts returned

Efforts by officials at the National Space Technology Laboratories in Hancock County last weekend to pinpoint the cause of defects in an engine that aborted the second launch of the space shuttle Discovery on June 26 were unsuccessful.

Harry Guin, assistant for program planning and development at NSTL, said four suspect parts from the space shuttle are being returned to their vendor plants for further testing.

The engine will remain at NSTL until component testing is completed and officials decide what to do next, he said. The engine was brought to Hancock County July 4 for tests here.

On Thursday a test simulating the conditions suspected of causing the shutdown was performed on a developmental engine permanently housed for such purposes at NSTL, but the test was inconclusive.

The actual engine was tested Saturday, with tests pointing to the valve actuator as being the source of the problem.

Being returned to their manufacturing plants are the engine controller, the hydrogen valve, the valve actuator and the harness that connects the engine controller to the valve.

Vandalism reported at schools

By NAN PATTON EHRBRIGHT

The Bay St. Louis Police Department is continuing its investigation of vandalism at Bay St. Louis Separate Municipal School District schools, Superintendent J.D. McCullough reported yesterday afternoon.

Monday McCullough told school trustees that sometime during the weekend someone had shot several holes through windows at both the high school and the junior high school.

The damage was discovered Monday morning, he said, adding that a complete survey of school property would be made Tuesday.

Yesterday McCullough reported the damage appears to be limited to the area including the principal's office, the guidance counselor's office, a classroom in the east wing and the cafeteria at the high school and the cafeteria at the junior high.

Some 15 to 20 holes, apparently made with a .22-calibre rifle, were found in the area including the principal's office and the guidance counselor's office at the high school, he said.

DOWN HOME

by DARLENE UNDERWOOD
Hancock County Extension Home Economist

Several factors have been linked to heart disease.

Among them are high blood cholesterol levels, high blood pressure, diabetes, family history of heart disease and obesity.

In addition, many scientists believe the following conditions raise the risk of heart disease: smoking, stress, physical inactivity and excessive consumption of fat, saturated fat, cholesterol and sodium.

High blood cholesterol levels are believed by some to be associated with a greater risk of heart disease, and low levels with a lower risk.

Although blood cholesterol levels vary among people, populations with a high consumption of saturated fat and cholesterol tend to have high blood cholesterol levels.

Individuality and heredity permit some people to eat a high-fat, high-cholesterol diet and maintain relatively low levels of blood cholesterol, while others consume less and have relatively high levels.

Debate continues about the desirability of making general recommendations to the entire U.S. population regarding intake of dietary fat and cholesterol.

Many scientists, including the Surgeon General of the United States, consider it sensible to consume only moderate amounts of fats and cholesterol. Moderation poses no known health risk, and may reduce your risk of heart attack. No diet, however, will insure against heart disease.

Here are some ways to moderate intake of total fat, saturated fat and cholesterol.

Start with a few changes you can live with, then go on to others.

Vegetables and Fruits

Use salad dressings moderately. Season cooked vegetables with herbs, spices or lemon juice rather than with sauces, butter or margarine.

Cereals and Baked Products

Be selective in use of high-fat desserts such as pies and some cookies and cakes.

Milk and Milk Products

Select low-fat or skim milk and milk products.

Use cheese moderately and substitute lower fat varieties when possible.

Use sour cream and cream cheese only occasionally.

Meat, Poultry, and Fish

Select lean meat, poultry and fish. Trim visible fat from meat, including the fat between muscles.

Roast, bake, broil or simmer meats, poultry and fish. Drain fat from meat and poultry after cooking.

Use organ meats, such as liver, only occasionally.

Eat moderate servings of meat and poultry. Combine with vegetables or grain products to increase portion size.

Dry Beans and Peas

Use dry beans or peas as an occasional main dish, as an ingredient in combination with meat or as a vegetable side dish.

Eggs

Be moderate in the use of egg yolks, including those contained in prepared foods.

Try substituting egg whites in recipes calling for whole eggs, for example, in muffins, cookies and puddings.

Fats and Oils

Cook without added fat.

Use of fried foods moderately, especially those which are breaded or have a batter coating.

Make sauces, gravies and soups with little or no fat. Skim fat from broth.

Be moderate in the amount of butter used at the table.

Be moderate in the amount of margarine used at the table. Use soft margarine rather than butter most of the time.

Use oil and margarine rather than hydrogenated vegetable shortening, lard or butter to prepare baked products.

Snack Foods

Choose foods for snacks that are low in total fat, saturated fat and cholesterol.

Winn Dixie increases dividend

Winn Dixie Stores, Inc. recently increased its cash dividend for the 41st, consecutive year, a New York Stock Exchange record.

The company's board declared a regular monthly dividend of 14 per share on common stock and Class B common stock (accumulating convertible), payable on July 31, Aug. 31 and Sept. 14. Adjusted for a five-for-three stock split in October 1983, the new dividend rate of $1.68 per year represents a 7.7 percent increase over the previous rate of 13 per month or $1.56 annually.

Winn Dixie, operator of 1,231 food supermarkets throughout the Sunbelt, is one of the few public companies paying its dividends on a monthly basis.

Approximately 50 percent of its full time employees are shareholders.

Refunds available for recalled beef

Winn-Dixie stores on the Gulf Coast have removed packages of ground beef that may contain glass from their shelves, but customers who bought the meat before it was recalled may turn it in for a refund.

About 45,000 pounds of the ground beef were recalled after a Bogaloussa, La., customer reported finding glass in a package, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture Food Safety and Inspection Service.

Glass was found in two packages from the Bogaloussa Winn-Dixie, and all the recalled meat came from the same New Orleans processing plant.

The packages recalled are marked by the Winn-Dixie brand name, the "sell by" dates July 12 and July 14, and the number Est. 1415N. It was sold in packages weighing one, two, three, five or 10 pounds.

Winter speaks in Lincoln, Pike counties

Former Gov. William Winter strongly stressed his resolve to open doors for Mississippi at a citizens' rally in Brookhaven.

He addressed another grassroots group in Pike County Friday night at Percy Quinn State Park in his campaign for the U.S. Senate.

A large crowd turned out at St. Paul's Church in Brookhaven Tuesday night. Winter told Lincoln Countians he will not be a "back-row senator," but will make himself and the people he serves, and their needs, known to the nation.

Criticizing the incumbent Republican senator for receiving more than $50,000 in fees and honoraria for speaking to special interest groups last year, Winter renewed his pledge to accept no such earnings.

The Democratic nominee for the seat, Winter said, "Instead of catering to special interests, I would spend my time speaking for the people of Mississippi...finding opportunities for Mississippians. I would stand up and say something, do something. People won't have to ask where I am and where I've been."

Winter continued: "I will go where I need to go and talk to the people I need to talk to to get things done for Mississippi. I intend to use the office of senator to open doors for Mississippians and for Mississippians."

He stressed the need to attract business and industry to the state and to build a proper environment to ensure a high quality of life.

MUSIC CRAFT

The award-winning documentary "Violoncello," chronicling the creation of a cello, can be seen at noon, Sunday, July 15 on Mississippi Educational Television.

The program concentrates on musical craftsman David Wiebe, who works in his Victorian home in David City, Neb., creating violins, violas and cellos for professional musicians across the country.

Viewers see Wiebe working with Edward and John Tupper, a father-and-son woodcutting team in Oregon who cut wood for musical instruments. Wiebe and the Toppers take viewers deep into the Oregon woods, where the high altitude produces slow-growing trees with flexible fibers. There the three men search for just the right tree and describe the criteria they use when selecting wood.

Through laborious and exacting work—approximately 120 hours to complete a violin and about 200 hours for a cello—Wiebe gradually shapes a thick block of wood into a recognizable instrument.

Bay St. Louis to host Babe Ruth state tourney

By NAN PATTON EHRBRIGHT

Bay St. Louis will host the 1984 Babe Ruth 13-year-old state tournament July 13-16 at Bay High's park on Athletic Drive adjacent to Tiger Stadium.

According to Frank Pernicaro, team manager, this is the first time Bay St. Louis has hosted the state hardball tournament for 13-year-olds.

Winner of the state tournament will participate in a regional meet the following week in Charlotte, N.C.

The first of the 11 games in the six-team double elimination bracket will begin at 6:30 p.m. Friday.

The last game will begin at 8 p.m. Monday.

Bay St. Louis' first game will be played at 8:30 a.m. Friday.

Participating teams include district tournament winners from Yazoo City, Orange Grove, Natchez, St. Martin and Tishomingo.

As host team, Bay St. Louis is automatically included in the meet.

Although there are seven districts in the state, Pernicaro said Districts 2 and 4 are not participating in the Bay St. Louis meet.

The Bay St. Louis and Orange Grove teams, he noted, belong to the same district.

On Saturday morning, Clermont R. Bontemp American Legion Post 139 will host an 8 a.m. breakfast for all the teams and their coaches and managers.

Pernicaro is not concerned that his team of 13-year-olds will be playing its first game on 'Friday the 13th.'

"Bay St. Louis has won the state championship for the last two years," he noted.

"We should be favored to win again this year," he said.

"We have a real good team to go with."

The Bay St. Louis team includes members from Bay St. Louis, Waveland and Pass Christian.

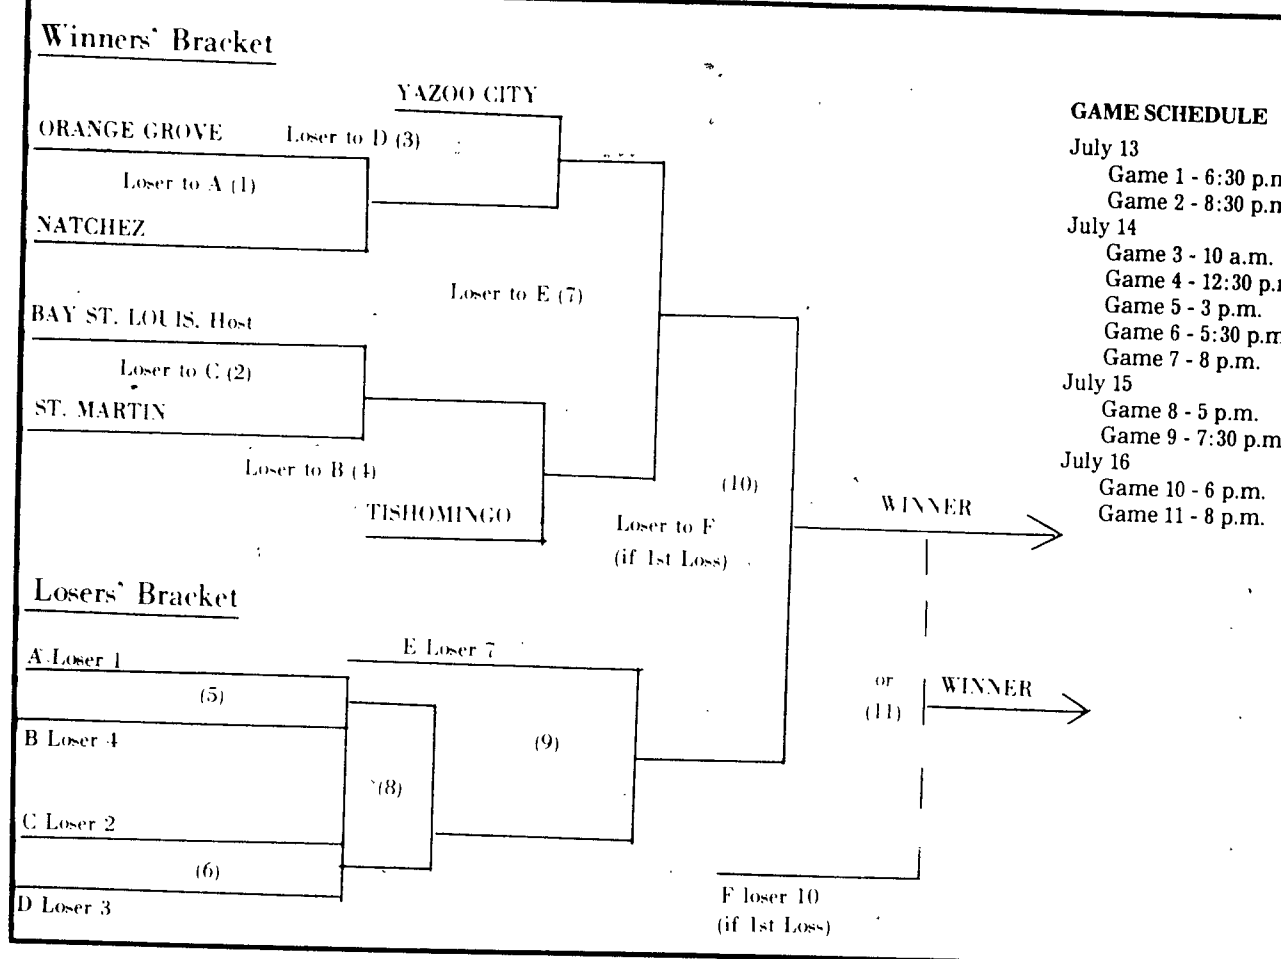

Among them are Rick Boyet, Cedric Smith, Rocky Rhodes, Dante Curry, Ronnie Peterson, Kyle LaFontaine, Bert Dean, Derrin Smith, Ronald Doyle, Keith Marquar, Scott Heitzman, Patrick Bonney, Doug Powers, Lloyd Nicaud and Joe Lee.

Alternates are Teri LeBourgeois, Greg Sotak and David Warman.

Neil Favre and Andy Pernicaro are coaches for the Bay St. Louis team.

MPC launches safety program for sailors

Sailing is a popular activity for many Mississippi Gulf Coast residents and tourists. But the experience can become deadly if a metal mast comes in contact with overhead power lines.

Mississippi Power Company has launched a safety awareness program for sailors to make them more conscious of the potential danger of aluminum masts contacting power lines.

"Overhead wires have become such an integral part of the scenery on the Mississippi Gulf Coast that many sailors simply forget to look up when raising the masts of their sailboats," Art Morrison, the utility's Supervisor of Claims said.

When a metal mast touches a power line, the electric current flows through the mast and anything or anyone in contact with the boat. The current seeks out the easiest path to the ground, usually an arm or foot of any person touching the sailboat. The most common forms of injury associated with electrocution are severe burns, loss of appendages and cardiac arrest which results from the electric current altering the heart rate.

Since the advent of taller, aluminum masts in the early 1960's, more than 50 deaths have been reported nationwide in power line related accidents.

However, the actual statistics are considered to be low because the U.S. Coast Guard only records sailing accidents occurring in navigable waters. On the Mississippi Gulf Coast, two similar accidents have occurred resulting in one death and four injuries.

"We are talking to yacht clubs and sailing organizations along the coast to inform them of the dangers involved with masts coming in contact with live wires," said Morrison.

The one-hour safety program, offered to anyone interested, will guide boat users on how to be wary of electric wires, what to do in dangerous situations and how to ensure safe transportation of sailboats with metal masts. Mississippi Power Company will also distribute safety stickers for sailors to attach to their masts, giving them a colorful reminder to look up.

"Mississippi Power is concerned with saving lives, preventing injury and avoiding property damage," said Morrison. "Sailors can be in danger on the land as well as in the water if they are not aware of the potential trouble a power line poses to a metal mast."

A number of accidents involving sailboats and electricity occur in parking lots near launching ramps. Several deaths and injuries have occurred when operators of smaller sailboats pick up their boats and carry them to a non-designated launching area to avoid long lines on the launching ramps.

"By lifting the sailboat up and carrying it to a place not designated for boat launching, sailors place themselves in greater risk of bumping the mast into power lines and being electrocuted," Morrison said.

The U.S. Coast Guard reports that 1982 was the worst year for fatalities resulting from boating accidents involving power lines. In 1983, an estimated 13 people were killed and another eight to 10 seriously injured in similar mishaps across the nation.

"It's simply a matter of people being aware of the potential for an accident," Morrison said. "We don't want people to put their lives on the line."

If any group or organization is interested in participating in this free program, they can contact Morrison at Mississippi Power Company at 868-0336 or 868-0796.

UNRECOGNIZED PINCHED NERVES

Pinched nerve is a term utilized by the Chiropractic profession describing an irritation disturbance of a spinal nerve. Falls, auto accidents, lifting wrong, then can cause a displacement of a spinal bone, which may cause pinched nerves and interrupt normal nerve function. Some of the more common complaints that may develop from pinched nerves are: dizziness, headaches, nervousness, pain in the chest, stomach, neck or back. Often, a person may not associate his condition with pinched nerves thus allowing these conditions to go unrecognized until an advanced stage of illness develops. A competent Chiropractic examination will lead to early detection and the application of care will aid prompt recovery.

Six PRC baseballers sign grants with senior colleges

Six Pearl River College baseball players have signed grants with senior colleges.

Ned Eades, the PRC Wildcat coach, who is spending this week conducting a baseball camp in Kentucky, said all six former 'Cats will add much to their new respective teams.

Heading for the senior college ranks are Jim Murphy, Jim Spugnardi, Kelly Jones, Brady Webb, Travis Bourgeois and Tracy Stiglets.

Murphy, who hails from Shelbyville, Ky., signed with the University of Kentucky. The 6-foot, one inch 180-pound first baseman batted .363 last season for Coach Ned Eades, while rapping nine home runs and driving in 36 runs.

Spugnardi, from Simpsonville, Ky., will be playing for Western Kentucky where his brother played. Spugnardi, who had a fine high school career, was the Wildcats' most reliable pitcher last season posting nine wins against only one loss, while compiling an earned run average of just over three runs per seven innings.

Jones, who played his high school ball at Forrest County High hails from Brooklyn, Ms., and signed on with William Carey College on the Gulf Coast as a catcher. Jones, a very durable man behind the plate, batted .298 for the 'Cats last season, while hitting four round-trippers.

Webb, like Murphy, comes from Shelbyville, Ky. The 5-foot, 11 inch second baseman signed with Union College of Tennessee. Webb, a switch hitter, batted .317 for the Wildcats last season, while cracking two homers, one from each side of the plate.

Bourgeois, who calls Metairie, La. home, played his high school ball at Archbishop Rummel and signed with the University of Southern Mississippi in Hattiesburg. Bourgeois led the Wildcats in hitting with a .398 average and clubbed five homers, while driving in 26 runs. The 5-foot, 11 inch infielder caught the scouts eye by winning the most valuable player award at the north-south all-star game. Bourgeois led the south in a come-from-behind victory by going two for three, with a home run and two runs batted in.

Stiglets, who played his high school ball at North Forrest High in Hattiesburg, signed with Mississippi College in Clinton. He compiled a 4-1 record for the Wildcats, while striking out 43 batters in just 41 innings. For Stiglets, last season's high point was a one-hit, 10 strikeout shutout of Jones Junior College. He, like Bourgeois, got the scouts attention at the all-star game where he pitched two innings of scoreless relief, while striking out four batters.

Richard "Bug" Ellis, who batted .395 for the Wildcats last season with a team leading 39 RBI's, is planning to walk-on at USM.

Diamondhead Trophy Day golf winners announced

Second flight-honors went to Wilma Smith, Joye Shread was second, and Doris Wattigney had the fewest putts.

Third flight winner was Cindy Middleton; Margaret Fortier, second; and Jo Gatipon, fewest putts.

Linfield College selects Cap and Gown honoree

Lisa Jane Knodle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Knodle of Diamondhead and a senior at Linfield College in McMinnville, Ore., majoring in sociology and psychology, was recently elected to the Cap and Gown Honorary Society at her school.

The society honors women of senior standing who have a high grade point average and excel in leadership, character and respect for others.

Knodle, a 1981 graduate from Bret Harte Union High School in Angels Camp, Calif., is working this summer as an intern in The Henderson House in McMinnville, a home for abused women and children.

Last year while she was a student at Milsaps College in Jackson she served an internship with the youth court.

Lash Roberts is next speaker at Year of the Ocean seminar

Nash C. Roberts Jr., consultant meteorologist of New Orleans, La., will be the speaker on Saturday, July 14, when the Gulf Coast Research Laboratory presents the next program in its series of Year of the Ocean Seminars.

Roberts' topic will be "The Ocean, Weather and Our Climate." The seminar will be held in the laboratory's J. L. Scott Marine Education Center on East Beach in Biloxi. Starting at 11 a.m., the program will last about one hour, including a question-and-answer period.

These seminars are free to the public and intended for a general audience. Anyone is welcome to attend and to visit the aquarium room of the center between the hours of 10:30 a.m. and 1 p.m.

Roberts is well-known to several generations of residents on the Mississippi Gulf Coast for his clear presentation and explanation of weather news, including occasional minicourses on how and why low-pressure systems that form in the eastern Atlantic may become hurricanes.

Following Hurricane Camille in 1969 Roberts wrote and published "Extreme Hurricane Camille," a complete study of the technical as well as the non-technical aspects of the storm from its inception in Africa to its death in the Atlantic.

Roberts began his long career as a weathercaster in the New Orleans area at WDSU-TV (Channel 6) in 1951, moved to WVUE-TV (Channel 8) in 1973, and then to WWL-TV (Channel 4) in 1977.

He has produced numerous instructional booklets on hurricanes, tornadoes and other weather phenomena. In 1980 he organized the Nash Roberts Weatherphone, Inc., which provides free general and marine telephone forecasts and weather advisories 24 hours a day.

In 1983 he did research and wrote papers on hypothermia and wind chill and participated in a hypothermia workshop for outdoorsmen at Tour du Infirmar.

NASH ROBERTS JR.

After teaching meteorology and aerodynamics at Loyola University in 1941-42, Roberts was an officer and instructor in the U.S. Navy from 1943 to 1946. He opened Nash C. Roberts Jr. Consultants, Inc., a weather service, in 1946 and later the Nash Roberts Instrument Co.

He has also served as chairman of the board of Tidelands Capital Corp. and vice president of Tidelands Life Insurance Co.

He owns a ranch and breeds registered polled Hereford cattle.

In addition to his many activities as a professional meteorologist, Roberts was elected to the Louisiana State Board of Education in 1952 and served for 18 years, twice as president of the board. While on that board he initiated state-wide programs to combat illiteracy.

He was a founding member of WYES-TV (Channel 12), the New Orleans educational channel and twice chairman of the board.

TIMBERLINE

By David Watts
Hancock County Forester

Most landowners sell timber infrequently, in some cases only once during a lifetime. Because of that limited experience, a few landowners feel confident when selling timber. One of the major concerns is knowing whether or not one has received a fair price for his timber.

It is not unusual for adjacent tracts of timber to bring drastically different prices even though they appear similar to the landowner.

Many factors affect the stumpage value (value of standing timber), but it is unrealistic to place a dollar value on those factors unless one is talking about a particular tract of timber at a particular point in time. However, some general comments can be made concerning how each factor raises or lowers the stumpage value in the eyes of a prospective buyer.

The first point a buyer must consider is the suitability of the timber for the final products being manufactured by his firm. Some mills can use only pine, only hardwoods, only cypress, etc. Others are able to use many different species. A buyer who can use only pine will not put maximum value on any hardwood included in the sale because he will need to turn around and sell that hardwood to another buyer.

Even if the species are suitable, tree size can be very important.

All mills have size limitations on wood used as raw material. Pulp mills can generally use smaller diameter trees than sawmills, plywood mills, and treating plants. Trees which are either too small or too large are of no value to a mill unless they can be resold to another manufacturer; if not resold, they cause extra waste disposal expenses.

Tall, large-diameter trees can generally be harvested cheaper per unit volume than short, skinny trees. Loggers thus expect to be paid more for cutting smaller trees. The timber buyer must be concerned with the total delivered price of wood to his mill, including both the logging costs and whatever the landowner is paid for stumpage. Other things being equal, he can afford to pay the landowner more for larger-size trees.

The uniformity of tree size within the sale area can also affect stumpage value, especially if the different sizes are mixed together rather than being located in separate stands.

If some of the trees to be cut are too big or too small to be handled efficiently with the logging equipment used on the majority of the sale area, it may be necessary to use two different logging crews. A number of difficulties may arise in that circumstance, including the small-tree crew cutting larger trees than they were supposed to

I MAKE PAPERWORK WORK... BECAUSE IT MAKES A DIFFERENCE.

I'm responsible for directing, planning and implementing all phases of office automation for Mississippi Power. Basically, that means using the latest office technology to improve efficiency and productivity.

We've set up an office systems center to handle the heavy paper work generated throughout the company. We have the most sophisticated equipment available, and we have the skilled people it takes to operate it. Office automation keeps the workflow steady and takes a lot of pressure off management and employees. So they can concentrate on doing the things they do best while we take care of the paper.

Office automation makes us a more streamlined company. It reduces overhead and helps all of us to respond faster and better to the needs of the people we serve—our customers. I've been here for twenty-three years and, believe me, I can see the difference.

That's what I like about my job. It gives me a chance to do work that is not only challenging, but also helps people. Work that makes a difference.

ASCS NEWS

Foreign Investors
Foreign investors reported owning 13.7 million acres of U.S. agricultural land at the end of 1983, compared with 13.5 million acres in 1982, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The reports indicate foreign owners plan to keep 92 percent of their acreage in agricultural production. The 13.7 million acres represent slightly more than 1 percent of the nation's agricultural land.

Foreigners reported no change in tenancy or rental arrangements on 42 percent of the acres, some change on 29 percent of the acres and no response for the remaining 29 percent.

Of the foreign-owned acreage reported, 57 percent was in forest land, 14 percent in cropland, 24 percent in pasture and other agriculture, and 5 percent in nonagricultural and unreported uses.

Corporations own 83 percent of the foreign-held acreage, partnerships, 9 percent; and individuals, 7 percent. The remaining 1 percent is held by estates, trusts, associations, institutions and others.

Here in Mississippi, foreign-owned agricultural land totaled 344,589 acres for 1983.

Among the states, Maine reported the largest number of acres—14 percent—owned by foreign persons. This represents about one-fifth of all the reported foreign-owned land nationwide.

Except for Maine, foreign holdings were concentrated in the South with 39 percent, and the West with 29 percent. Rhode Island is the only state with no reported foreign-owned agricultural land, according to the report.

Farm Loans

The Emergency Agricultural Credit Act of 1984, passed by Congress last week and signed into law by President Reagan, makes major and immediate changes in the U.S. Department of Agriculture's farm loan programs administered by USDA's Farmers Home Administration.

The new law extends benefits to financially stressed farmers who were unable to qualify for them under previous law.

Most immediately affected, said FmHA Administrator Charles W. Shuman, are the disaster emergency and regular farm operating loan programs.

The law opens the disaster emergency loan program to qualified farmers in any county bordering a county designated eligible for emergency loans resulting from a natural disaster occurring after May 30, 1983.

About 1,600 of the nation's 3,000 agricultural counties have been so designated by Secretary of Agriculture John R. Block—most of them as a result of last year's searing heat and drought.

"We don't know at this time how many additional counties will be involved," Shuman said, "but we are preparing to meet the challenge."

He also pointed out another provision in the new law which expands the opportunity to apply for emergency loans by two months—from six to eight months following the designation by the Secretary of Agriculture.

Shuman noted that six months already have expired in more than 500 designated counties in seven states. The six-month period would have expired at the end of April for another 550 counties in 14 states.

"Reopening the program for counties past the deadline and adding contiguous counties will mean a sudden increase in the Farmers Home Administration county office workloads, Shuman explained.

"I hope all those who apply for loans under these new provisions will be understanding. We will, of course, process all applications as speedily as possible."

Another provision in the law may result in opening up loans already made.

It would base the value or assets used as collateral in emergency loans on the higher or lower value on the day before the governor of the state involved requested the emergency designation, or their value one year before that date.

This provision also applies to disasters occurring after May 30, 1983.

For operating loans, the limit for insured—or direct—loans for a single borrower was raised to $200,000 from $100,000 and to $400,000 from $200,000 for guaranteed loans. This applies only to new loans, Shuman said.

For operating, farm ownership and disaster emergency direct loans that are deferred, consolidated, rescheduled or reamortized, the interest rate will be set at the original rate, or the rate in effect at the time the loan is changed, whichever is lower.

Other changes include:

—A requirement that all Farmers Home Administration farm borrowers be notified "as soon as practicable...in the normal course of loan making and loan servicing: of the provisions or limited resource loans—which carry lower interest rates—for operating and ownership loans.

The law restates an existing requirement that 20 percent of operating and ownership loan funds be allotted to limited resource borrowers.

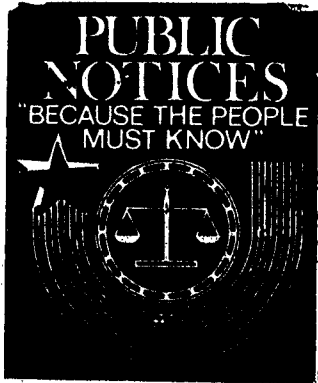

However, recognizing that this may not be possible in every state, those state offices unable to meet the 20 percent goal for operating loans may use remaining funds for regular operating loans, according to a joint conference committee report accompanying the bill.

—A limitation on the purchase of land by Farmers Home Administration employees involved in the loan review process, including members of the agency's county committees, whenever another person has applied for and been denied a Farmers Home Administration loan to buy the same land.

—A provision for a study or the feasibility of permitting delinquent Farmers Home Administration farm borrowers to repay their loans with earnings from timber production on land diverted from crops and pasture.

—Provision that $310 million be made available for insured economic emergency loans this fiscal year and any of the $290 million portion not used for guaranteed economic emergency loans may also be used for insured economic emergency loans.

Shuman said instructions on the changes will be sent to Farmers Home field offices as "soon as we can possibly get them out."

Military Mention

CADET DIXON

Byron L. Dixon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Johnny L. Dixon of Rural Route 2, Pass Christian, has completed a U.S. Air Force ROTC field training encampment at Tyndall Air Force Base, Fla.

Field training, attended by cadets normally between their second and third year of college, gives an opportunity to evaluate each student's potential as an officer, according to an Air Force spokesman.

The summer's curriculum consists of orientations on jet aircraft, career opportunities, human relations education and equal opportunity training. Physical fitness and survival training are also emphasized.

The field training is four weeks, but cadets in the two-year ROTC program receive an additional two weeks of instruction in the development of air power and the contemporary Air Force.

Dixon is a student at the University of Mississippi.

SGT. BURK

Staff Sgt. Roger W. Burk, son of Royal G. and Sandra A. Burk of Gulfport, has graduated from the U.S. Air Force engineering assistant course at Sheppard Air Base, Tex.

During the course students were taught practices and techniques of construction surveying, drafting fundamentals, and the use and care of drafting and surveying equipment. They also earned credits toward an associate degree through the Community College of the Air Force.

His wife, Cindy, is the daughter of Anthony and Ruth E. Dandrea of Rural Route 4 in Pass Christian.

Mississippi participates in eight-state project

School lunches aren't what they used to be. Today's children have many nutritious choices compared to the simple fare of 20 years ago. In Mississippi and seven other Southeastern states, school menus will soon offer even better choices for students.

A 125-page full-color merchandising manual developed jointly by the State Departments of Education in eight states, the "School Recipe Portfolio," is designed specifically to help school food service people improve their menus.

The book includes 70 recipes and 146 color photographs in eight sections. Each page is laminated to make it spill-proof and all pages may be removed from the three-ring binder.

The manual is the first full-color recipe book ever developed for use in the institutional food service industry.

The project was coordinated by the Mississippi State Department of Education in cooperation with SDE's in Alabama, Florida, Kentucky, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee and West Virginia.

The entire project was federally funded, with each state contributing based on the number of books received. Total cost of the project was $737,000.

In addition to the recipes the manual includes ideas on food displays, on self-service systems and on serving lines. These sections are aimed at helping cafeteria managers make school lunches more attractive and to help them compete favorably with other types of food outlets.

Each school in all eight states will receive a copy of the manual and food service supervisors in all states are being trained in its use. Training is also available through a series of videotapes. Manuals and tapes are provided free of charge.

Although printing was just completed in May, orders are being accepted for a second edition this summer and those involved in the project anticipate a demand for the manual nationally.

Koenig attends FHA meeting

FHA District President Kim Koenig and former sponsor Marilyn Bailey represented Kim's district and school, Bay Senior High, at a two-day leadership meeting at Lake Taik-O-Khata, where she met with 105 other FHA officers from all over the state.

Activities included speeches and films on birth defects, abortions, narcotics and peer pressures. Those attending learned their duties and responsibilities and district officers and Kim presented a speech on proper health care and nutrition during pregnancy.

After speeches and films the girls retired to the lake for paddle boat rides, swimming and walks along the banks.

ETV Brief

LIVING LAND

"The Making of a Continent," the three-part documentary series written by Ron Redfern, will be rebroadcast on Mississippi Education Television at 7 p.m. Saturdays, beginning July 14. It was first seen on ETV last November.

The series probes the ways in which the earth's continents are constantly being reshaped by natural forces.

Both the series and Redfern's book, "The Corridors of Time," subscribe to the theories of Alfred Wegener, a geologist who, in the early part of this century, contended that continents move about on the earth's surface and once actually formed a single continent, which he named "Pangea." The TV series examines the feasibility of Wegener's theory of how land masses, such as continents are actually living, changing regions.

GEORGE BULLARD

Gulf Park dean retires from USM

George Bullard, assistant to the dean for academic coordination at the University of Southern Mississippi's Gulf Park campus, is retiring after 23 years of service.

Bullard began his career at USM in 1961 as an assistant professor of marketing on the Hattiesburg campus. He moved to the Gulf Coast in 1970. He later served as an associate professor of business administration and in 1982 was named director of the department.

He has served as assistant dean since 1983.

Bullard received his B.S. degree in marketing at the University of Arizona and his M.S. in finance at Mississippi State University, where he served five years as an assistant professor of business administration.

Bullard is a member of the Board of Directors for Metropolitan National Bank in Biloxi.

He holds a position as a Gulf Coast representative on USM's faculty council and is chairman of the entitlements committee of the council.

He was the 1983 president of Southern Faculty Investment Club and is still actively involved with the Gulf Coast Military Academy Alumni Association, serving for the past 13 years as executive secretary and director.

He has also served as chairperson on two Gulf Park self-study committees.

Bullard is known for his keen eye for the stock and bond markets and plans to stay busy with financial planning after retirement.

"I also plan to teach part-time and play some golf. I haven't had the opportunity to play in four years," he said.

"It has been my pleasure and good fortune to work with a dedicated and competent faculty and watch the USM-Gulf Coast program grow," he said. "It has been most gratifying to work with Dean Joe Holloway during the past 12 years."

"Dr. Holloway has done so much for this regional campus to make it what it is today," Bullard said.

"I am pleased to have played a part in bringing higher education to the people of the Gulf Coast and I will continue to support our efforts after I retire."

DOUBLE COUPON SAVINGS

COUPONS

On Manufacturers' Coupons with $5.00 minimum non-coupon grocery purchase. Here's how:

Redeem manufacturers' "cents-off" coupons by buying the items and we will DOUBLE the value stated on the coupons, with a minimum $5 non-coupon purchase. Our "DOUBLE SAVINGS" applies to manufacturers' coupons you clip from newspapers and magazines — not "free", tobacco, or other retailers' coupons. The only exceptions are listed below:

Jitney Jungle will redeem DOUBLE the value of manufacturers' coupons up to 50¢. Coupons over 50¢ will be redeemed for $1. Coupons over $1 will be redeemed at face value.

Only one coffee coupon (including vacuum and instant) may be doubled per order.
If the double coupon value exceeds the retail price of the item, you will receive the item free, with no cash refund.

One coupon per item will be refunded for double the value. All others will be redeemed at face value.

No more than ten coupons will be doubled, unless the total purchase of non-coupon items exceeds $25.
